

Mineral of the Month Club Newsletter

December 2017

Happy Holidays to all,

As you all know by now from previous emails and newsletters, this will be the last featured mineral that is mailed from Mineral of the Month Club. Remember that we will continue to be here for your collecting needs. We will periodically post minerals from the large inventory that we have amassed over the years to the Celestial Earth Minerals website and Etsy shop where you can continue to make purchases.

As always, you can always reach Christine or Lora at #800-941-5594 or via email at info@celestialearthminerals.com.

Featured Mineral:

This month the featured mineral is hemimorphite that was collected at Mexico's famed Ojuela Mine. The name hemimorphite is from the Greek words hēmi, or "half," and morphē, meaning "form." The combined meaning "half-form" is interesting as hemimorphite has a tendency to exhibit different crystal habits at opposite ends of the same crystal.

Monthly Offering:

This month we have 2 items in our monthly offering for holiday gift giving.

First we have Axinite from a private collection that was mined in the 1980's in California that Lora and Christine picked up at one of the Tucson Gem & Mineral Shows. It is a rare group of calcium aluminum borate silicate minerals that is sure to enhance any collection

Second is a Goniatic fossil from Morocco. It is an ammonoid cephalopod that formed some 390 million years ago. It is an ancestor to the modern day Nautilus. They are visually pleasing and make for a nice display piece.
